McClain's Company, M.C. Mil., War of 1812
 William Donnelly died in his fifty-first year, near Taylorsville (now Mountain City) in Johnson County, Tennessee. William was buried in the old McQueen's Cemetery (now Robinson-Blankenbecker Cemetery which is part of the Ed Butler farm about three miles from town) in Mountain City, Johnson, Tennessee where many of his family is buried. The exact spot is unknown but a marker has been placed at what is thought to be the spot.
 The Mountain City Chapter, Daughters Of The American Revolution (D.A.R.), conducted a service May 30, 1928 and unveiled a marker, in honor of William Donnelly, soldier of the War of 1812, at the family square in Mountain View Cemetery, Mountain View, Johnson County, Tennessee.

Richard was overseer for Fulton at Liberty Hall, Virginia for seven years. During the War of 1812 he joined the Light Horse Brigade Company and marched to Richmond, Virginia. When they arrived they found that peace had been declared. He served one month and assisted in removing the Indians. He went to Johnson County, Tennessee with his father and family in 1816. He was a farmer, stockman, coroner, Justice of the Peace and was in the legislature at Knoxville. His farm was the original Donnelly Homestead on Wilson Creek one and half miles north of what is now Mountain City, Johnson County, Tennessee. Once he rode 400 miles on horse back to Vigo County, Indiana to see his son, William A. Donnelly, stayed for two days and rode back home.

MILITARY: "CPT William Jackson was a member of the North Carolina Militia during the Revolutionary War and was active in protecting the home front in the mountainous region of Western North Carolina. He was considered to be one of the King's Mountain Captains and was one of the "Over the Mountain Boys"; he contributed to Battle of King's Mountain but did not actually fight in the battlefield the day of the battle. It is my opinion that our William was a member of the NC Militia not the Continental Army, and the record Fifteenth Virginia, page 316 has nothing to do with our William Jackson. ---end of quote from Bob Mitchell---

Joseph E. Lowe with granddaughter, Frances Ruth Privette, and daughter, Fina Estelle Lowe Privette

Carson holding his namesake, baby Clyde

Carson was a very quiet man. He played the piano and stringed instruments. He raised his family during the Great Depression and WWII era. He made his living in various ways: He was constable of Washington County, VA; ran a boarding house in Indiana, and in his later years, drove a taxi cab in Bristol. He died of a heart attack and was buried the day Nellie's youngest daughter was born. (Carson and Fina moved to Indiana a short time after they lost their house to a fire when Nellie was a preschooler. They didn't stay in Indiana long. They moved back to Washington County, VA and lived with Carson's parents in their home just off of Benhams Rd in North Bristol.)

Curtis, Clyde, Ida, Nellie, Jimmy, Ruth

Fina had artistic talent. She was a very clean and tidy person who arranged her hair and put on makeup as soon as she got out of bed. She was always well groomed.
